Hey!

Very nice talking to you today. Thank you for your time, I really appreciate it. Is it ok if I call you Annie?
When you get through the trial stuff this week, let me know how your schedule is going to be so we can go over everything together.

In the meantime, if you have a chance, I wanted to give you their expert's information:

David Benjamin, Phd,
www.doctorbenjamin.com

In the following weeks, I will send you some information about what he is planning on saying and what he is basing his opinion on. That way, we can find ways to rebut his opinions. I will be filing a discovery motion in order for me to obtain some of that information.

Talk to you soon,

Thanks again!

Hi Mr. Papachristos,

How are you? I hope all is well. Della forward me this email in regards to Lab # [REDACTED] I haven't had a change to look up my powder sheet. But if you can give me a call and just let me know what is the problem.

Thanks,

Hello Ms. Saunders,

I also wanted to send this email to Annie Dookhan, but I know that she goes by her married last name, unfortunately, I do not remember what it is. Please forward this email to her as well.

The testing for the narcotics for the above-referenced case was conducted by you and Annie. Defense counsel has filed a motion to exclude the drug certs from being entered, or at the very least, making it an issue for trial that the method of obtaining the total weight of the narcotics by using a representative sample is not scientifically reliable. He is also planning on arguing that issue to the jury.

In short, I will need a chemist to testify for trial on this case. When you receive this email, please contact me, or have someone contact me so I can go over in detail what I need for trial, and in the interim, what I will need to file with the court.

Thank you for your time, and I look forward to hearing from you soon.
